WELCOME TO THE FARLOWS AUTUMN/WINTER 2023 COLLECTION

Before we showcase some selected pieces, a bit about our brand, as what we stand for informs what we produce and how we do it. We're proud to have a Royal Warrant from HRH The Prince of Wales. It's testament to some of the core values that have been at the heart of our business since Charles Farlow started the company back in 1840. Just like our founder, we strive to provide the finest quality products, expert knowledge and friendly advice. Always have done, always will.

Innovation has also been part of our brand DNA since day one (Charles Farlow had 14 patents to his name). It's what drives us to continually create better products every year, with a relentless focus on improving garment performance. We're also a British brand and purposefully choose to ensure our own range collection is British made (with the exception of our shirts, knitted ties and loden fabric which are made in Europe). We take great care selecting the very best suppliers and craftsmen in England and Scotland to work with, and you'll find a bit more detail on this later on.

Our vision at Farlows is that every generation is inspired to love game fishing and shooting as much as they are to preserve them for the future. We believe that as a company we are responsible for achieving the highest standards of environmental practice and for operating in a sustainable manner. The Farlows Group Ltd (which owns both the Sportfish and Farlows brands) received Planet Mark Business Certification in 2022, an internationally recognised sustainability certification for business acknowledging continuous progress and encouraging action. Measuring our own carbon footprint has been a critical step in reducing our impact on the planet and society. We are committed to reducing our carbon footprint annually by over 5%. Additionally, we are proud to actively support a number of selected charities in whatever ways we can to help the conservation of our fish and rivers, to protect and promote sustainable shooting, biodiversity and the rural community, and to encourage new audiences into the sports we love.

A WORD FROM JACK GREGORIE, FARLOWS PRODUCT MANAGER

Welcome to the showcase of our AW23 Farlows fieldwear collection. We strive always to create only the best accessories, garments and fabrics from across the UK, ensuring quality, purpose and innovation are all at the forefront of everything we do.

Scottish tweeds are at the heart of our Farlows collections. Tweed is a truly remarkable fabric that has survived the test of time since being first used for outerwear in the 18th century by Scottish farmers who needed to endure the harsh winter weather. It remains mostly unchanged since then and is still used and worn with pride by country folk up and down the British Isles and indeed, across the world. Dubbed the 'original performance fabric', in a world of fast fashion and high-tech plastic outdoor clothing, this 100% natural fibre still stands its ground with pride and efficiency. Our tweeds have been brought into modern day life to cope with everything that this entails, with up-to-date refreshing but practical designs, sustainable production practises and Teflon finishes to give extra water repellency.

Alongside our collection of tweeds for AW23, we also utilise two different grades of loden and a variety of cottons too. Our lodens are another example of fantastic craftsmanship of a 100% woollen fabric and loden sits very close to Tweed with its core purpose and properties. Our lodens are milled for us in Austria by one of the oldest loden mills in the world and our cottons are all milled in Dundee, Scotland, again by the best cotton mill there is.

Our new and continuity tweeds, lodens and cottons for our AW23 collection are all purpose designed for each individual garment.

We are incredibly proud to have nearly all of our collection made in the UK. We believe the quality of UK made fabrics, clothing and accessories is unrivalled and we are in a fortunate position where we are really able to showcase 'the Best of British' and what our British manufacturers are capable of. There are, however, some exceptions to this and for our shirts, silk knitted ties and loden we do use a handful of makers in Europe who are at the top of their field.

For AW23 we have lots of exciting newness for the Farlows Collection. Within our selection of new sporting Tweeds and lodens across men's and ladies', we are introducing new garments such as the Fairford and Glencoe fieldcoats for men, and the Sloane and Hampton coats for ladies. Our much loved knitwear collections have also developed further with some fine examples of the collection showcased here. To sit alongside our clothing collections, we have an array of accessories to complement all aspects of country life.

We hope you enjoy viewing our AW23 collection and look forward to seeing you in Farlows soon.
